Advertisers

Clicksor.com is a Targeted Contextual Advertising Network that serves over 360 million impressions each month by partnering with over 10,000 specialized websites. Your ad listings will instantly appear in their affiliated websites that have related contents to your product or service.

Contextual Advertising means that your advertisement is only shown on a website that is 'in Context' to your specific product or service. Their online advertising technology works by publishing your text and/or rich media advertisement on the relevant affiliated websites that would best match your selected targeted keywords or channels.

Their Internet advertising network is set on an auction model (CPV, CPC and CPM metrics) where you may bid for placement ranking. The higher your bid, the higher placement and frequency of your ad listing will be shown on their publishers' website.

Media Offering:

Ad Formats	Cost Metrics	Minimum Price
Text Banners	CPC	$0.10 Per Click
Graphical/Rich Media Banners	CPM	$0.50 Per thousand Impressions
Graphical Banners	CPC	$0.10 Per Click
Pop-under	CPV	$0.003 Per Visitor

Targeting and Optimization:

Options	Examples (Target or Optimize By)
Context and behavior	Keywords and Channels
User geographic location	USA
Publisher sites	domain.com
Conversion/ROI tracking	filter any inconvertible traffic

Validation system

Clicksor's advance pioneer advertising technology analyzes every click and impression to determine whether they are quality clicks or intended to artificially generate. The system will automatically identify and filter all invalid traffic in real time based on the visit patterns. And to ensure the accuracy of the validation system, their traffic control team will examine all the traffic one more time on a daily basis. Any suspicious traffic will be removed and credited back to your account.

Campaign Management

They offer a very powerful easy-to-use management system that provides real time statistics. For each keyword, advertisers can specify the bid amount, description, title and landing URL. As an advertiser, you can also change the settings of the campaign at any time.

AdBrite.com

AdBrite, "The Internet's Ad Marketplace", is an e-commerce site. Rather than selling books, CDs, or rare antiques, we sell ad space on thousands of websites.

Like Ebay, many AdBrite users are both buyers and sellers (advertisers and publishers). That's why our homepage doesn't say "advertisers go here" and "publishers go there". There are, however, two distinct things you can do with AdBrite -- buy and sell ad space -- so we'll address them separately here.

If you're an advertiser:

AdBrite provides great deals from all sorts of websites. Search or browse to find a site you want to advertise on. We'll show you relevant stats, including price and how many clicks you can expect. Add it to your cart, write your ad, and pay. If approved by the webmaster, your ad will appear on that site at the scheduled time.

If you're a publisher:

Use AdBrite to set your own ad rates, and approve or reject every ad that's purchased for your site. AdBrite enables you to instantly sell ads to your visitors via a "Your Ad Here" link, in addition to selling through AdBrite's marketplace and sales team.

Through a small snippet of HTML placed on your site, we handle serving, scheduling, billing, customer service, and sales. About half of AdBrite's sales are generated from our marketplace and sales team, while the other half are generated from users clicking "Your Ad Here" on their publisher's sites. AdBrite takes a percentage of the ad sales, depending on the type of ads you are selling.

While AdBrite can provide publishers with more revenue and better ads than traditional ad networks such as Google AdSense, they work fine along-side them as a simple way to generate additional ad revenue by selling ads directly to your visitors -- something the other ad systems don't do.

If you're using AdBrite in addition to another ad network, you can turn off AdBrite's "run-of-network ads" and AdBrite will only display ads that have been approved by you. If you have no ads running, AdBrite will display nothing but "Your Ad Here", so no real estate is wasted and you have nothing to lose.

AdBrite doesn't display the big "brick" of ads that you're used to. Rather, AdBrite gives publishers full control over the look and feel of their ads so AdBrite can be integrated seamlessly into any website.

AffiliateSensor.com

Publishers

Get the ease of Pay-Per-Click publishing with the income of the best affiliate programs. You can now refer visitors to the ClickBank mall and collect the commissions. Affiliate Sensor's new context-relevant, text-link affiliate ad blocks let you choose from ClickBank's over 10,000 products by copying and pasting a little JavaScript onto your web pages. You show only context-relevant, highly targeted text ads that you have control over. The ads you display are sorted to show the best performing affiliate links on top. You can make up to $75 per sale or more!

Real-time reporting, including clicks by domain, page and referrer. An easy-to-use script-building interface that lets you fully customize your ad blocks. You only have to modify your ad code one time to update that same ad on all pages using that ad block.

The database is updated regularly so the best ranking programs always appear in your results. AffiliateSensor gives you 5% of the impressions of every account that signs up through your "Ads by.." link. They have all of the ad formats supplied by Google AdSense, so you can use their ads to replace the Public Service Ads (PSA's). They even have a special link format that you can add directly into the `google_alternate_ad_url` line of your AdSense code.

This program has no up-front costs to you. You will never pay them any money. AffiliateSensor pays for the program by sending 5% of the ad-block impressions to their own ClickBank account and 5% to the account of whomever you signed up through.

This means that, unlike other contextual ad programs, you do not give them free branding. When someone clicks on the "Ads by AffiliateSensor.com" link and signs up for an account, you get 5% of their ad impressions sent to your ClickBank account.

For example, if someone signs up under you and gets 100,000 impressions of their ads, 90,000 of those impressions go to their ClickBank account, 5,000 to the AffiliateSensor account and 5,000 to your account. Any clicks and sales generated off of your 5,000 impressions are credited to your ClickBank account. It's an incredible way for you to get extra money by doing nothing but getting the great benefits of their program.

Does 10% sound like a lot? It's not. Consider these facts: The average banner network keeps from 20%-30% of impressions for themselves. Google AdSense keeps 32% of the income generated per click. AffiliateSensor.com rates are low! They don't need to be any higher because this program works.

Quigo.com (Adsonar 3.0)

Advertisers

Adsonar will place your ads on premium publisher site pages. Choose placements from their ad placement marketplace. In the next step they also recommend more placements that fit within your budget. There's not much risk in trying many different placements – you only pay when someone actually visits your site and clicks your ad. In their auction based advertising system, you don't pay anything to show your ad on the placements you choose, but you do pay if a visitor clicks on that ad. Bid whatever you are willing to pay for a click on each placement (as long as it's above the minimum bid). You don't even need to be the highest bidder to receive traffic. Control your costs even more with your spending plan and daily budget settings. You choose how much and how often they charge your credit card, and you can cap the amount you spend per day.

You can pay now or later. Your selections and spending preferences are saved, and won't start running your campaign until you're ready to fund your account. To control your spending, after you click "Place my ad now," make sure you are happy with the selections in the "How much do you want to spend" and "Spending Limits" areas of the next page.

How much does it cost? Your ads are placed on the pages, sections, or next to content topics you choose. You pay only when a visitor clicks on the ad. While you can get started with as little as $100, your total spending depends on how many clicks your ad generates.

You can control your spending by:

- * Carefully setting your bids on each placement. Your bid is the amount you are willing to pay when a visitor clicks on your ad. If you're not the highest bidder, you can still receive traffic if your ad text is well matched to the placement you've chosen.

- * Your billing plan – In the "How much do you want to spend" section of the signup page, you can choose to try this program out with an initial amount, be charged on a monthly basis, or have your account recharged every time your balance runs out.

- * Daily Budget – The strictest spending control will come from your daily budget. In the "Spending limits" area of the signup page, just enter the amount you are willing to spend on this ad campaign per day. Once you receive enough clicks to reach that limit, your ad will stop running until the next day. The daily budget is a great way to smooth your spending over time, ensuring you don't run out of account funds too quickly.

Where will my ad run? Where your ad is shown depends on what type of placement you choose. Most of the placements in the marketplace are specific pages or sections. If you ask to recommend more placements for you, they might suggest you bid on any of these types of placements:

- * Pages – Your ad will show on a specific site page you select.
- * Sections - Your ad could appear on any of the pages within one section of one site.
- * Topics - Your ad could appear on any page that has content related to the topic you choose.
- * Newsletters - Place your ad directly on an e-mail newsletter.
- * RSS Feeds - Target your ad to a publisher's RSS feed.

Do I need to be the highest bidder? No! You should bid what you are willing to pay per click for each placement. While being the highest bidder does increase the chances that your ad will be shown, they also take into account how well your ad performs when deciding which ad to display on a particular site page.

If you don't want to bid too high, you can try to increase your ad's performance by:

- * Providing relevant titles and descriptions: Tailor your creative to the selected placements. Where applicable, place the name of a placement in your creative.
- * Shorten your creative: Make your message short and to the point. Place the most important information at the beginning of your title and description.
- * Keep your creative fresh: Update your ad creative at least once per month to keep viewers engaged.

What is content-targeted advertising? Simply put, it is advertising that is relevant to the theme or content of a Web page. Content-targeted advertising generates more awareness and clicks because it is related to what the user is reading on the page.

What is AdSonar for Advertisers? AdSonar is a content-targeted advertising network of the web's best sites. Their technology connects publishers and advertisers through an auction-based, pay-per-click marketing platform. AdSonar enables cost-per-click advertising on best-in-breed publisher sites, and arms advertisers with the ability to find their target markets within those sites. With content targeted or site-specific placements, AdSonar gives advertisers the tools to convert an interested, captive audience into customers. What's more, advertisers can see where their ads will run – usually on the best, most popular sites in their category.

Why should I buy AdSonar ad listings? To generate more highly qualified leads. AdSonar for Advertisers allows you to reach consumers while they are engaged with the topic related to your product or service. AdSonar's matching system guarantees that the right audience sees your message. Why are AdSonar listings any different than other content-targeted programs?

Two Simple Reasons:

- * Relevancy: AdSonar has the one of the most accurate matching technologies in the industry.

- * Simplicity: AdSonar does the work of discovering topics; making the creation of ads an easy and simple three-step process.

AdSonar combines superior relevancy matching and listings control with a vast and comprehensive Publishing community. In addition to category matching, AdSonar uses patent-pending technology to place your listings beside the most relevant content.

AdSonar simplifies the advertisement creation process while giving you superior control of where to place your listings and how they appear. AdSonar also supports "budget capping," and AdSonar's technology eliminates the process of defining keywords by suggesting topics for your ad.

Where do AdSonar listings appear?

AdSonar listings appear on content sites that were carefully screened by their editors to have robust, unique and quality content offerings, related to the topics that you choose. We ensure that we have Publisher sites to fit your messaging.

AdSonar uses technology that assesses the relevancy of the ad listing to the target content and then arranges placement based on a combination of factors such as relevancy, the bid amount submitted for the topic & the click-through rate of the ad listing on the targeted content.

What types of ad placements can I bid on through AdSonar? AdSonar has two types of ad placements available for bidding: Contextual Placement and PageMatch, which allow you to bid to appear in ad units on specific, highly trafficked pages. Because PageMatch topics allow for placement on premium pages, the minimum bids tend to be a bit higher than the minimum bids on contextual topics.

Is there a minimum bid for AdSonar listings? The minimum bid for AdSonar varies by topic. In general, the minimum for contextual topics is in the $.20 to $.50 range. The minimum for PageMatch topics is in the range of $.65 to $2.00.

Publishers

ContextWeb's technology, ContextAd, provides a dramatic increase in click throughs, resulting in higher effective CPMs for publishers. Matching the most appropriate advertisers to page specific content translates to the ability to better manage and sell inventory. ContextWeb works with publishers in a variety of ways. Read below for more information on our product offerings:

ContextWeb's Network for Publishers

ContextWeb's Network for Publishers provides publishers with a simple yet incredibly effective way to maximize their inventory by offering content-matched text ads. This allows publishers to enhance the value for their users and advertisers, while increasing their CPM.

White Label

ContextWeb's White Label product is designed for publishers that serve a minimum of 10 million impressions per month. The product allows publishers to sell their own text ads on a site-specific basis.

More relevant ads mean more ad revenues.

ContextWeb's Network for Publishers uses ContextAd, a proprietary, patent pending technology that allows for content to be matched with the most appropriate advertiser within 20 milliseconds. This real-time technology provides a dramatic increase in click throughs, resulting in higher effective CPMs and the ability to better manage and sell inventory.

ContextAd assigns a definition to each web page in our network in real-time which means that it can be used with dynamic content. As a result, the advertiser can show the most relevant ads on all your web pages, enhancing the value for their users and advertisers, while increasing your CPM.

In addition, this technology's unique ability to bridge keyword and category targeting means it can access new inventory that publishers can offer advertisers, creating entirely new revenue streams. These factors represent critical competitive and economic differentiators in the rapidly evolving contextual advertising category.

Why use ContextWeb's Network for Publishers?

ContextAd uses our patent pending technology to connect content, ads, and users. Our system scans the content of a web page, calls our database of advertisers and can serve an ad, all in as little as 20 milliseconds. This means that when a potential customer is reading an article on your Web site, ads will be served based on the content of that page. This is unlike older spidering technologies that are not be able to serve a relevant ad because they lack real-time targeting capabilities. Now Publishers with dynamic content can make the most relevant match using ContextAd.

Serve Ads in Real-Time

ContextWeb's Network for Publishers allows content to be matched to relevant ads in as little as 20 milliseconds. This real-time technology means content can be dynamic and the ads that get served will still match.

Utilize Categories and Keywords for Matching

Our patent-pending technology goes beyond searching for a single keyword. It indexes the publisher's page with the category and multiple keywords without the delay of time consuming hand coding. This unique combination of category and keywords delivers more value to the advertiser and therefore a higher CPM for the publisher.

Increase Inventory

ContextAd creates keyword and category inventory across content, solving an inventory shortage that exists on search keywords.

Create New Revenue Streams

We offers publishers the ability to create new revenue streams by adding contextual ad units on their site. ContextAd uses a revenue ranking system that rewards the best performing ads with more volume. This means that the targeted ads that are rotated across the publisher's Web site are optimized based on relevance, performance, and price, so they produce as much revenue as possible. When ads are more relevant, more users will be interested in them and will click on them more often - earning more money for you.

Customize the Look and Feel of the Ads on Your Web Page

The publisher has the ability to control the various colors of the creative units on their web pages. Customize ads by text color, title color, background color and the border color. This can all be easily accomplished through the online portal for publishers.

Access Online Reports 24/7

Once a publisher starts to use ContextAd they will have access to continually updated revenue reporting. Our system tracks ad performance and provides detailed reporting on page impressions, number of clicks, click through rates and overall revenue results.

ContextAd's R.O.C.K. Methodology

Real-time

ContextAd uses our patent-pending technology to connect content, ads, and users. Our system scans the content of a web page, calls our database of advertisers and can serve an ad, all in as little as 20 milliseconds. This means that when a potential customer is reading an article on a publisher's Web site, ads will be served based on the content of that page. This is unlike older spidering technologies that are not able to serve a relevant ad because they lack real-time targeting capabilities. Now publishers with dynamic content can make the most relevant match using ContextAd.

Optimization

ContextAd optimizes the best performing ads in real-time. Serving only the most relevant advertisements creates the highest CPM for publishers.

Categories & Keywords

ContextAd goes beyond searching for a single keyword. It indexes the publisher's page with the category and multiple keywords without the delay of time consuming hand coding. This unique combination of category and keywords delivers more value to the advertiser and therefore a higher CPM for the publisher.
